Northern Saw-Whet Owl

Donna Miller

Donna Miller started with science fiction and fantasy art as a young child, using pencils and crayons. She eventually graduated to colored pencils, soft pastels, and then watercolor. In the past couple of years, she decided to enter the digital age, drawing freehand with a mouse using a paint program. Donna is pursuing an IT career. She is also an aspiring novelist, with an urban fantasy novel in beta read prior to sending to a publisher. She loves to rock hound, bird watch, thrift, listen to paranormal podcasts, and recently joined the Peak to Peak Chorale. She lives in mid Gilpin County with her hubby and two cats.

"Northern Saw-whet Owl" is based on a photo Donna took during a vacation to Minnesota in January 2026, where she and her hubby hired a guide who specialized in finding wild owls. In drawing this image, she replaced the original background, which was tree needles, with a western scene of snowy mountains and meadows. It was painted by mouse using Krita 5.2.13, an open-source art program, using old-fashioned digital paint tools. No AI was used in creating this painting, as the artist would rather her artwork be wholly her own effort and her own work. "I have been doing this all my life. Eventually, I will be organized enough to have an online shop and do commissions." contact dxmiller77@gmail.com for her prints

Publisher's Note

Warm greetings from the mountains!

I hope you enjoy this issue of The Mountain Pages. Our focus is mountain-based businesses, and we're proud to provide an easy, reliable resource for finding the local services you need, whenever you need them. If you misplace your copy, don't fret! You can access The Mountain Pages anytime on your iPhone, iPad, or Android device when you visit www.TheMountainPages.com

The Mountain Pages is THE resource guide of choice for mountain residents and visitors alike. Because we focus exclusively on mountain businesses, we remain the only directory widely used throughout the Peak to Peak region. Since 1993, our mission has been rooted in a passion for connecting our communities and strengthening our "family of mountain people." By supporting one another, we enhance the creative, social, spiritual, and economic vitality that makes mountain living so special.

We are privileged to work with so many dedicated business owners who care deeply about their customers and community. For many, being featured in The Mountain Pages has been part of building and sustaining their dream of owning a mountain business. If you'd like to be included in our next issue, please feel free to call me at 303-258-7509. Thank you for being part of our mountain family.

Wishing you a wonderful Winter season!
